NOON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

Labyrynthian Wrangles—Congressional Proceedings—Introduction of Bills—Meeting ofsCommittee on Privileges and Elections.

WASHINGTON Oct. 22.—Cautionary signals continue on the Atlantic coast, Smithville and Cape Hatteras north.

The peace reported throughout Louisiana does not extend to her politicians here. Their wrangles and tangles are labyrinthian.

Senators Blaine and Kearnan are paired. This indicates that Blaine intends voting on the pending question with the ultra Republicans.

It is thought the committees will not be announced until Wednesday.

HOUSE—The Colorado question and election resumed after reading the Journal.

SENATE—Among the bills introduced and referred in the Senate during the hour was one by Mr. Beck, to repeal section 3 of Act to provide for the resumption of specie payments, approved July 14th 1875.

By Mr. Hereford of West Virginia, to repeal the act, and provide for the resumption of specie payments.

By Mr. Jones, of Nevada, to authorize coinage dollar of 412½ grains of standard silver, and for other purposes.

The resolution submitted by Mr. Edmunds on Wednesday last, providing for the appointment of a committee of seven Senators, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration the state of law respecting the ascertaining and declaration of the result of the elections of President and Vice President of the United States, and that said committee have the power to report by bill or otherwise, was taken up. Mr. Edmunds moved to amend by adding the words, "and that said committee have the power to confer and act with any committee of the House of Representatives that may be charged with the same subject. The amendment was agreed to, and the resolutions passed as amended.

Mr. Howe, of Wisconsin, introduced a bill to amend certain provisions of the revised statutes of the United States relating to transportation of animals.

Mr. Chaffee, of Colorado, submitted resolutions directing the Secretary of the Interior to transmit to the Senate a copy of the last annual report of the Government Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. Agreed to A number of bills were introduced and referred to proper committees, and the Senate at 12:40 adjourned until to-morrow.

The full Committee on Elections and Privileges of the Senate met, except Morton. Spofford was present, also Kellogg, with his counsel, Shellabarger and Wilson. Kellogg submitted a written statement in support of his claim. Spofford argued his own case. The hearing will be continued.

TURCO-RUSSIAN WAR.

Turks Falling Back—Vain Offers of Battle—A False Report.

LONDON, October 22.—It is reported that the Roumanians, after having captured the Grivitza redoubt were driven out, (which is official): they recaptured Grivitza Saturday.

The Turks have retired to Rasgrad to secure their communication with Rustchuk.

The Russian cavalry have advanced to Kavarana. It is evident that the Turks have commenced a retrograde movement.

A telegram from Shumla, received in Constantinople, says Suleiman offered battle on several occasions. The Russians, however, declined to accept the challenge, wishing rather to lure the Turks to unfavorable ground. Sulieman, however, prudently avoided the snare, and in consequence of the want of water and the bad condition of the roads, which hinders transportation, the Army of the Danube retired upon Rasgrad.

The Daily News states that 18,000 men and forty cannon were captured by the Russians in the recent victory over Ghazi Moukhtar. The Turkish reports that part of their army is still holding out in the fortified positions in Aladja Dagh, are unfounded.

The Russian loss in carrying Aladja Dagh on the 15th inst., is officially reported at 1,441 killed and wounded. The losses on other parts of the battle field are not stated.

A DESPERATE FIGHT.

A Commercial Tourist on his Metal—A Sample Butcher Knife in Play.

CINCINNATI, October 22.—A special dispatch states that a desperate encounter took place Saturday evening at Big Clifty, Ky., near Louisville, between two highwaymen and Joseph Hausen a travelling salesman. Hausen started to walk from West Clifty to Big Clifty to catch the train and was met upon a bridge which spans a chasm 146 feet in depth by two desperate characters who demanded money. Hausen drew a revolver and shot one when the other rushed upon him and attempted to throw him over the bridge. Hausen drew a butcher knife from a package of samples and stabbed the robber and succeeded in throwing him down the chasm and then escaped to Big Clifty. The robbers were arrested, but were not recognized by the people of the place. The one thrown over the bridge was saved from instant death by falling in Nolin river but both men will probably die.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

Bank Failure—Terrible Mine Explosion.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Humekle & Lange, Bankers, with seven millions marks capital has gone into liquidation.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A special dispatch from Glasgow to The Pall Mall Gazette says: An explosion occurred in the Colliery at Highblantyre near this city. There were four hundred men in the mine at the time: a large number of lives was lost.

Fire in New Jersey.

MADISON, N. J., October 22.—A fire last evening destroyed the business portion of this village. Four stores, one dwelling and the railroad depot were utterly destroyed. The alarm was sent to Morristown, and the fire department of that city responded and checked the fire. There is no fire department here.

A Shipwreck.

FORT MONROE, October 22.—The bark "Eos," which arrived here to-day from Antwerp, reports that on October 3rd, in longitude 42 44, latitude 27 47, she fell in with a wrecked vessel named "Mary T. Ward," of Calais, with masts gone and full of water. The wreck seemed to have been abandoned some time.

NIGHT DISPATCHES.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Campbell Appears for Spofford—Blaine Sick—Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, October 22.—A deputy collector in the third Georgia district is reported as being $4,000 short. Special agents have the matter in charge.

Judge John H. Campbell, of New Orleans, will appear for Spofford before the committee on privileges and elections.

Blaine is too sick to travel to-day.

In the House, Colorado occupied the entire day. A select committee on civil service was ordered. Adjourned to Wednesday.

Ingalls' bill pensioning certain soldiers of the Mexican war, gives $8 per month to all survivors, including those who served 60 days, and their widows.

There is furious lobbying against the confirmation of J. Wiley Wells as Consul General to China. Allegations against him by affidavit and otherwise, especially otherwise, are serious.

EASTERN AFFAIRS.

Official Account of the Attack on the Redout.

LONDON, October 22.—A Russian official dispatch, detailing Friday's attack upon the second Grivica redoubt says: "At the first attack the Roumanians were repulsed before they gained the redoubt. At the second attack the three foremost battalions leaped into the trenches and vainly endeavored to carry the redoubt. They remained one hour in the trenches, which gave rise to a premature report of its capture. The Roumanians then withdrew, with the loss of two officers and two hundred men killed, and twenty officers and seven hundred and seven men wounded.

Episcopal Convention.

BOSTON, October 22.—The attendance is light. Many members have gone home. It was decided to adjourn sine die on Wednesday.

The resolution of Dr. Dekoven, of Wisconsin, for the use of the lectionary of the church in England by the church in this country until the next General Convention, was discussed by Dr. Dekoven, Dr. Goodwin, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Battle, of North Carolina, and Mr. Beers, of California, who favored a reference of the matter to the committee on prayer books. Hon. Robt. L. Winthrop favored the adoption of Dr. Dekoven's resolution, as there was nothing in the lectionary of the good old mother church that could be considered objectionable.

The result of the vote was as follows: Clerical deputations of dioceses represented noes 42; ayes 42. Lay deputations of dioceses represented, ayes 32; noes 2. South Carolina and Minnesota voted in the negative.

On motion of Mr. Hubbard, of New Hampshire, it was voted that clergymen have power to use the table of lessions reported by the committee in connection with the lectionary for lent. This action does not affect the table of lessons heretofore used.

More About the Mine Explosion.

NEW YORK, October 22.—A Glasgow despatch says that exploring parties have been at work endeavoring to succor those in the mine. They have little hope of rescuing any alive, and express the opinion that every one in the pit is is dead. One survivor says the bottom of the pit is full of dead bodies.

NEW YORK, October 22.—A southeasterly storm prevailed here from Saturday morning until this a. m., when the wind changed to northwest. There are indications of clear weather.

GLASGOW, Oct. 22.—It is feared that the entire four hundred men at the Colliery, at Highblantyre perished. A special train was sent to bring the injured to the Glasgow infirmary, but it has returned, none having been got out alive, 20 dead bodies have been recovered.

Probabilities.

For the South Atlantic and East Gulf States clear or partly cloudy weather, northwesterly winds and stationary or higher pressure and temperature.

HOMICIDE IN WAKE.

E. S. Wallace Shot while Escaping from Arrest.

Some time last Spring, E. S. Wallace of Barton's Creek township, was accused of stealing a mule from Peterson Dunn, Esq., and he was arrested under a warrant issued by a magistrate. While under arrest he shot one of the guard, named Harrison and fired at another and made his escape. A warrant was issued against him for this last act also, but hitherto he had eluded the officers of the law. On Sunday night, Deputy Sheriff J. R. Nipper, who had the papers in hand, hearing that Wallace was at home, summoned a posse and, about day break yesterday morning, went to his house and surrounded it. A man named Watkins who, it seems, had spent the night at the house, came out at the back door when one of the posse, supposing it was Wallace, ordered him to halt and prepared to fire on him. Watkins who was very much frightened exclaimed "this aint him; he is in the house." About this time Wallace himself, hearing the noise in the back yard, opened the front door and started to make his escape. Those who were on that side of the house ordered him to halt, but as he did not stop, the officer or some one of the posse fired on him. The ball took effect in the neck and Wallace fell on the spot and died in a few minutes.

Wallace was a Northern man and was said to have been a Federal spy during the late war. He married a very estimable woman of the county, but has been considered a very bad man. But of these things it is not proper to speak particularly pending an investigation of the affair.

The Coroner, Mr. Hampson, went out yesterday to hold an inquest on the body of Wallace.

The Forty-Fifth Congress as Seen in the Senate.

(Olivia, in National Union, Rep.)

Just as Davis, Slidell, Toombs, Benjamin and Wigfall gave a certain color and tone to the Senate in days of yore, the strong native blood of the South appears at the surface represented by the fighting element of the late "lost cause." A glance towards the Democratic region of statesmen shows the tall stately figure of Gen. Gordon, the successor of Stonewall Jackson in the field, with eight scars on his handsome person, to prove where the Union bullets have been when they were put where they would do the most good. But these marks do not detract in the least from his beauty or usefulness. The soldier who accepts the conquered situation and lays aside his sword, should make the best citizen, because courage and honor are forever before his eyes. In close proximity to Gen. Gordon may be seen other shining lights of Confederate fame, including Ransom, Hill, Morgan, Harris, Maxey, Cockerill, Garland and Lamar. Gen. Ransom surrendered on the field of Appomattox; Gen. Morgan has a history in the annals of the civil war; Maxey and Cockerill proved their courage in camp and battle, whilst Hill, Garland and Lamar will soon show the country what we are to expect from those who hail from the highest ranks in Southern civil life.

Brilliancy, and the small change of ready talent, so available in the "House," is completely lost in the Senate, where only the "heavy weights" have any chance for distinction or power. No more sorrowful sight has been seen since the Confederate war than a carpet-bag Senator struggling in the mental claws of an Edmunds or a Thurman. One terrific blow from the proper paw has generally been sufficient to level most of these political mushrooms—at least so far as Senatorial "gab" is concerned. The sight of lay figures in their seats, voting the ticket straight year after year, without question or remonstrance, is familiar to us all. The return of the actual representative men of the different sections to the Senate is the outward sign of national regeneration; and though our wounds are not completely healed, they have lost the general gangrene form, and are entirely healthy in their character. The coming of such men as Lucius Q. C. Lamar to the Senate is the birth of a new era of love and good feeling. What are we going to do with a man composed of modesty itself, with a nature so broad that it would take all creation to fence it in; with the finest culture, and with natural manners which no amount of polish can improve? He may, or he may not make a great Senator, but in either case he has universal womanhood to crown him with laurels, and he seems to be willing to accept his fate.

One of these sudden comets that sometimes dash across the political sky may be seen to occupy the chair of the late Senator Brownlow. It is Stanley Matthews' famous friend of the President, an unfortunate sheep that is said to have caused such sad disaster to the Republican fold. The politicians who have not assailed the President, brought their arrows to bear upon his best beloved target, who now, like dead Cæsar, lies stretched out in the home of his friends, whilst Ben Wade's prestige is rather increased than diminished by his removal from the Senate, which shows that great men, like precious jewels, lose nothing by the simplicity of the setting.

Like the flaming carbuncle of Hawthorne's bewitching tale, the son of the great Pennsylvania chieftain adorns the brow of the Senate, the only man in the Republic who has come into the possession of a title by inheritance. In his person seems united the cold, haughty blood of the Bourbon and Hapsburg, with the same supernatural tenacity to hold with iron grip the legislative loaves and fishes. But his bitterest enemy can wish him no greater harm than has been thrust upon him by his implacable sire. A glance at his manly form and face reveals the fact that he did not come into the possession of the spectral rhinoceros hide that made his illustrious predecessor invulnerable to the Damascus blade of irony and sarcasm. Destitute of the quality that would arrogate the power to place his own portrait in the most prominent medallion of a committee room, he will go back to the wilderness of Pennsylvania after his brief Senatorial reign a sadder if not wiser person.

When a man seeks to find his intellectual level, let him try his hand at bookmaking or smuggle himself, either by bonanza or other means, into a seat in the United States Senate.

Behind the gorgeous boquet, with face unruffled as summer morn, sits James G. Blaine, his busy brain hard at work weaving the same subtle web as once cocooned the souls of Nero, Alexander, Burr and Napoleon. Superb in his intellectual capacity, nothing is needed but proper cultivation; polished and elegant to the last degree, if he would only plant, water and prune his Senatorial garden he would find the returns a sufficient reward for his pains. Whilst there is material enough in him, if energetically developed, to make a first-class Senator, the same amount of talent spread over the whole country might become a little thin. Who would not rather be great Senator than a small President. When the Executive, called to divide himself [illegible] that forty millions of people are each to have a share, the fragments become so small that an individual atom [illegible] gigantic size if used with the hope of comparison.

Among the remarkable "heavy weights," both physical and intellectual, may be seen Judge Davis, who left the Supreme Bench for a senatorial career. During the exciting days of the electoral tribunal the eye of the whole country was fixed upon this man, and it may be safely said at that time the political fate of the nation seemed suspended from his hands. History will record that Judge Davis sat down on Sam Tilden, and by this sorrowful performance the Republican party seized the crown.

OLIVIA.

The Colored State Convention—A Protest.

To the Editor of the News:

Of the Convention called for the purpose of considering the "Educational, moral and material" interests of the colored people, it may well be said, that its doings are worthy of note; but not so much for what it did, as for what it failed to do, toward furthering these interests. In an educational point of view, the call, in our opinion, was altogether uncalled for, in-as-much as the State Educational Association, composed of the leading educators and in fact the brain and aristocracy of North Carolina, admits colored persons to a seat, gives them a voice and recognizes them as the equal of the whitest member of it. And as proof positive, we will simply mention the names of Jas. H. Harris, Esq., who once filled the position of Vice-President in it as we have been informed; Prof. R. Harris who was once appointed on one; or the most important committees of it and O. Hunter, Jr., who was once appointed a delegate from it to the National Educational Convention.

In a moral point of view, the resolutions very urgently insist and recommend the course to be pursued when the moral law is violated; but with a single exception, we have failed to see or heard any plan or recommendation, which looks toward the prevention of immorality, or placing a check upon vice and crime. The honorable exception to which we refer is the resolution introduced by Jno. H. Williamson, Esq., which is as follows:

"WHEREAS, Intemperance is one of the greatest evils that can befall a people; therefore

Resolved, That this Convention recommend to the people of the State, the importance of organizing temperance associations and to give them, when organized, a hearty support.

Resolved, That men who occupy high positions should, when they become subject to intemperance, receive the condemnation of every intelligent person in the community."

This, we must admit, is commendable, though it was considered of minor importance by one of the delegates.

In a material point of view, we base our opinion upon the drift of argument and popular sentiment which pervaded the discussions; and as in the other points of view, so in this, did they fail to devise means or even consider the greatest questions which now threaten the destiny of the race, among which are the mortality or rapid death rate of the colored people; protection for the illiterate against sharpers and swindlers of all classes; the injuries inflicted upon honest labor, by the influx of hordes which swarm to the cities and towns, in lieu of an exodus to the country or agricultural sections. In this latter question is involved the moral, social, physical and financial salvation of the colored people.

These enumerations are among the failures, coming under the head of material interests. But the doings under this head, we fear, presage an anxiety for office or individual aggrandizement on the part of some few, upon which the material interest of the race does not to a very great extent depend.

We hope that our conclusions are premature, but we we are almost tempted to say that upon the whole it was a successful failure. As an assembly, purporting to be without any political significance, and as the Governor tendered the House of Representatives for its sessions, he should have been invited to lend his presence, if not his voice, simply as a matter of courtesy, if nothing more; and as it is the custom of all non-political gatherings, especially when His Excellency is in easy access, and, too, regardless of his political proclivities, an invitation was due him. But the failure to simply endorse what, through his instrumentality, has been done for the race, is one of the anomalies of modern times, which is easily divined—politicians fear to go on record as endorsing the action of the Legislature and Governor, no matter what the occasion may demand. Hence we advise the colored people to discard the politician as much as possible in selecting delegates to represent them in other than political meetings. The interest of their constituents is always surbordinate to that of their own, and when it comes in conflict they first consult individual interest, then if there is any time left, they give it to the public welfare, sometimes. Therefore, beware of the politicians! These deductions have not been drawn for the purpose of disparaging the race, because we believe if the voice of the masses could be heard, it would resound with gratitude for what has been done, let it be little or much. They consider the establishment of a normal school to be multum in parvo and do appreciate it accordingly. The colored people occupy the very same position to our present State administration that the Democratic party occupies to the national government. What of good the party receives at the hands of President Hayes is gratefully received and fuly appreciated by the party, which of course is an encouragement to give more. And so it must be with the colored people if they desire anything more at the hands of the Legislature or Gov. Vance. Believing that this does not apply to a large majority of the colored people, we conclude with hopes of hearing from some of the majority.

MOREHEAD CITY.

The Fishing Interests—A Dry Dock and Steam Railway Company.

[Special correspondence of the News.]

I thought I would sail over to Beaufort to-day to pick up an item or two to send you. I found business very dull, and much complaint about the very small catch of fish. The storms have damaged the county seriously. Not over half of the crop of cotton, corn and potatoes will be housed. With the failure of the fish, the cry is there will be hard times in Carteret for another year, [illegible] again, almost continuing [illegible] road [illegible] my impression [illegible] gentleman, is a [illegible] steam railway company [illegible] City. This will [illegible] dollars in the county. As we [illegible] deepest water in the State, vessels needing repairs will flock here from all points. The wealthiest men in Beaufort and Morehead have subscribed liberally to carry the enterprise forward. It will not be long before you hear the work has been done.

WESTERN CARTERET.

A good story is told of Ben Butler's sarcastic retort upon a Massachusetts judge whom he was teasing for a ruling favorable to a cause he was defending in court. The judge got out of patience at last, and somewhat testily exclaimed. "Mr. Butler, what do you think I sit here for?" Ben quietly shrugged his shoulders, and replied, "The court has got me now."

Charlotte Observer: C. P. Mungo, owner of the Surface Hill mine, ten miles east of Charlotte on the Stanley road, showed us some capital specimens of gold ore, yesterday. At a distance of only fifteen feet deep the ore taken from a vein fourteen inches wide, indicated a value of three hundred dollars per ton. The manganese taken from this vein exhibits free gold, which is something unusual for this country.

Formation of a Company in Tyrrell County.

[Reported for the News.]

On the 22nd of September, 1877, the citizens of Tyrrell met at the courthouse in Columbia for the purpose of organizing a company of State Guards, pursuant to an act of the Legislature. On motion the meeting was called to order by Eli Spruill, who was appointed chairman, and M. D. L. Newberry, secretary. Mr. Edmund Alexander being called upon explained the object of the meeting, when a company of true patriots was made up and called "Scuppernong Greys," and the company at once proceeded to elect their officers, as follows: For Captain, Dr. Abner Alexander; First Lieutenant, C. E. Tatum; Second Lieutenant, Dr. W. H. Hardeson.

On motion it was ordered that a copy of these proceedings be sent to the RALEIGH NEWS, Economist and North Carolinian for publication.

HAYES' POLICY IN MASSACHUSETTS.

On the 19th inst. there was a citizens' Hayes indorsement meeting held at Holyoke, Mass. President Seelye, of Amherst College, made the leading speech. The following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That we rejoice in the success that has attended the efforts of President Hayes in promoting and securing peaceful and harmonious relations between the people of the North and South; that we gladly bury forever all animosities of the past, and extend to our fellow-citizens of the South cordial greetings, congratulating them that now they are permitted to exercise the rights of sovereign States of the Union.

Resolved, That we heartily approve the policy and actions of President Hayes to secure to the people a genuine civil service reform, so that now and always honesty and capacity, and not partisan service, shall be the test of fitness for appointment to office, fully indorsing the motto, "He serves party best who serves the country most."

Resolved, That the industrial and commercial interests of the country are now of the highest importance, and they should receive from all the departments of the Government every encouragement in their power; that our commerce may be revived and extended; that labor, not less than capital, may receive its just reward, and the better time now dawning upon us so auspiciously may result in a period of solid and permanent prosperity not before equaled in the history of the country.

Thiers as a Debater.

M. Thiers, it is well known, always took great pains with his speeches, which were studied even to the last refinement of phrase and verbal coloring. They were long prepared; and after they were delivered, he used often to spend entire nights in the office of the "Moniteur" correcting and amending them for official publication. Yet in extempore debate he had no superior, perhaps no equal, until Gambetta arose. A sudden discussion always found him ready with his facts and figures, his ever available power of irony, and his inveterate pugnacity. Nor did extempore debate ever betray him into flying over, or descending below, his subject. Sometimes he was impetuously indignant, and exceedingly bitter in his retorts; but he rarely made use of his temper to lend the expressiveness of wrath to his eloquence. He was most dexterous in speech; there were tact and finesse in the wit that once in a while sparkled forth, and he was almost finically precise in the accuracy of his figures and statement of facts; but was not master of the art, in which Gladstone is facile princeps among recent statesmen, of making figures eloquent.—George M. Towle; Scribner for Nov.

STATE NEWS.

Roanoke News: A match game of base ball will be played on our fair grounds on Friday during our fair.

Oxford Free Lance: Mr. Richard Peed, of Knap of Reeds, lost a fine barn of tobacco last week. Mr. Callis also suffered a similar loss a few nights since.

Warrenton Gazette: Mr. Thomas P. Harriss, one of the best farmers in the Arcola section, informs us that the wet weather and deer have nearly destroyed the pea crop in his neighborhood.

Roanoke News: Homicide in Northampton county on the 13th of present month; Iredell Savage killed Joseph Hill with a hatchet, on the plantation of Ed. Jacobs, Esq. The difficulty arose about a woman.

Charlotte Observer: The gin house of Capt. T. L. Vail, situated about thirteen miles from the city on the Providence road, was totally destroyed by fire, yesterday morning, with the machinery and three bales of cotton.

North Carolinian: A much larger area of wheat will be sold in the counties east of the Chowan than since the war. We have strenuously insisted that our farmers should diversify their crops and we are glad to learn that they have decided to do so.

Wilmington Star: The Cape Fear Light Artillery arrived home on the Carolina Central Railroad via Hamlet, between 10 and 11 o'clock on Friday night, and the members express themselves as having been delighted with their trip.

Shelby Aurora: A rattlesnake crawled into a house occupied by a family in the lower part of this county, a few days ago, and bit a little child which is now expected to die. The snake was found coiled up in the child's lap after it had bitten it in the face. The same sad thing occurred once before in the same family.

Concord Register: Mr. Monroe Misenheimer, of Mount Pleasant, had his right arm lacerated in a cotton gin at Kindley & Miller's steam mill at that place on Thursday. Amputation above the elbow was necessary, which was performed by Drs. Rose and Barrier. Mr. Misenheimer is upwards of sixty years old.

Newbernian: While our "teams" of the Newbern military failed to carry of the prizes awarded at the State Fair target practices, we are assured of the fact that the Newbern Grays and the Elm City Riflemen were the best drilled and best filled companies at Raleigh, and that their marksmanship was of the first order.

Union Express: We learn that there has been considerable excitement in the section of country surrounding Lane's Creek Post Office, in this county, the past week, owing to the simultaneous disappearance from the neighborhood in the early part of the week of a married man and a young woman, said to be rather pretty, who are supposed to have gone off together. After several days absence the married man alluded to returned to the neighborhood, but the young woman at last accounts was still missing. We do not know what account he gives of his strange conduct.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

Archbishop Gibbons has left Richmond to assume charge of the See of Baltimore.

According to the Department of Agriculture the cotton crop is as large as that of last year.

The third annual fair of the Alabama State Grange will be held at Montgomery October 30, 31st and November 1st, 2d and 3d. It opens on Tuesday and closes on Friday.

We judge from the Georgia papers that there is but little doubt that Senator Gordon will be his own successor. He will defeat all the combinations that will be against him.

We [illegible] North Carolina is next.

A rural correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch grows facetious over the proposed re-establishment of the whipping-post in Virginia and says scores of old farmers would ride 20 miles to beg the pleasure of giving a "nigger a good nine-and-thirty," while "to revel in the rare luxury of whaling a lank, lean New England Yankee, redolent of codfish and cant, they would fight."

At a meeting of the British Association, in Petersburg, last Tuesday night, it was stated that more than fifty farms had been sold to families, bona fide settlers, whose aggregate investments near Petersburg, in real and personal property exceed $200,000, during the last six months, and that next week a party of fifty to seventy-five land prospectors from the West was expected in Petersburg.

Richmond Whig: The approaching contest for prizes at the State Fair is the all-absorbing topic of discussion among the military here. The following companies have so far signified their intention of competing: Five companies from the First Regiment, Company A, Washington Infantry corps, Norfolk City Guard, Peninsula Guard, (Hampton, Va.), Wise Light Infantry of Williamsburg, Lynchburg Home Guard, Valley Guard, Harrisonburg. It is reported that others will be heard from also.

Baltimore Sun: The colored men in Hanover county, Va., have invented a remedy of their own for the tramp nuisance. One of their color, a big, strong fellow, having tramped into the Slashes, historic as the birthplace of Henry Clay, "the recently enfranchised," instead of giving him a crust and kind counsel, laid him over a barrel and belabored him with a stout stave, after which he was told to "git up and go 'long back whar he come from"—a piece of advice he proceeded to follow to the best of his ability.

Knoxville Tribune: The South has had the Speakership of the House of Representatives for forty-six years, in the forty-four Congresses that have been held. The incumbents have been Macon, of North Carolina; Clay, of Kentucky, Cheeve, of South Carolina; Barbour, of Virginia; Stephenson, of Virginia; Bell, of Tennessee; Polk, of Tennessee; Hunter, of Virginia; White, of Kentucky; Jones, of Virginia; Boyd, of Kentucky; Coob, of Georgia; and Orr, of South Carolina.

Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier: The political complexion of the State Senate will be considerably changed by the resignations which have taken place recently. Counting in Whittemore, the Senate stood: Democrats, 16; Republicans, 16; Independent, 1. The vacancy made by the resignation of Whittemore was filled by the election of Capt. Coker, Democrat, making the vote stand: Democrats, 17; Republicans, 15; Independent 1. The probabilities are that Democrats will succeed Nash, in Richland, and Maxwell, in Marlboro'. In that case the Senate will consist of 19 Democrats, 13 Republicans and 1 Independent.

THE COTTON CROP OF 1877.

From the special reports of the Agricultural Department at Washington we gather some important facts and details regarding the cotton crop of 1877. The area in cotton the present year is evidently larger than that of last year. The increase is estimated at about 4 per cent. The largest advance is in Texas, which would this year, but for the caterpillar, dispute the palm of production with Mississippi, though not yet supremacy in acreage. The estimated area now in cotton slightly exceeds 12,000,000 acres. In acreage North Carolina declines 4 per cent., and South Carolina 3 per cent. Georgia and Florida increase each 1 per cent., Alabama and Tennessee 2, Mississippi 4, Arkansas 5, Louisiana 6, and Texas 17. The States of largest acreage are Mississippi, Texas, Alabama and Georgia.

The recent returns for August make a somewhat unusual showing for the period just prior to picking. No material decline is indicated from the States in July. The general average for July was 93 4-10; in August, 93. No State averages stand higher than in 1876, except those of Louisiana and Florida. The States of the greatest production, especially those west of the Mississippi, are those reporting the highest condition. The estimates are as follows: North Carolina, 88; South Carolina, 88; Georgia, 85; Florida, 93; Alabama, 94; Mississippi, 90; Louisiana, 106; Texas, 96; Arkansas, 93; Tennessee, 90. On the Atlantic coast there is frequent mention of inferior fruiting. In the Carolinas there has been much succulence of growth in consequence of abundant moisture. In Georgia and Alabama there has been some injury from drought, but weather has lately been more seasonable. It has been too wet in much of Mississippi. In Louisiana the promise is extraordinary.

The prospect in Texas is marred by the appearance of the caterpillar. More than half of the counties reported are infested, not seriously as yet, except in a few cases. The crop is several weeks late. This is owing to the cold nights of the spring and summer, and excess of rains in some sections, which retarded cultivation and rendered the fields [illegible]

THE United States Circuit Court for the Seventh Circuit has determined the conflict of jurisdiction in the cases of the revenue officials on trial in Lumpkin county, Ga., for assault. The State courts are decided to be without jurisdiction. Why don't these courts that rule out the States, tell a long-suffering country who it is that has got the power to try and punish revenue offenders? It is not a matter of very great consequence whether a Revenue officer who commits murder is hung by a United States Marshal or a Sheriff; so the majesty of the law is vindicated. The right to try and hang must exist somewhere.

WE have received the first number of the Greenville Express, a good-looking weekly Democratic journal, established for the interests of Pitt county and of Eastern North Carolina, by L. Thomas & Co., publishers. The initial number gives promise of success, which we trust it may achieve in the end.

THE lawyers in the House of Representatives number one hundred and seventy-five. The medical profession is represented by eight members. As a matter of curiosity, we should like to know how few farmers there are in Con-

THE COLORED STATE CONVENTION.

During last week we had not time to notice the proceedings of the colored State Convention. They are worthy of note. This convention was the first one held in North Carolina for the purposes specified in its call—the educational, moral and material advancement of the colored people. The body was composed of intelligent, active and earnest representatives of the black race. We expected action from them which would bear favorably upon the destinies of the race in this State. We were disappointed. We cannot see that their proceedings will result in any appreciable good. Failure is written all over the convention. It had as well have never met, for the benefits that will accrue from its action to anybody, African or Anglo-Saxon; and it will be distinguished not for what it did, but for what it failed to do.

Why did it fail of its object? Let us see. The one thing needful for the elevation and improvement of the negro, morally and materially, is education. The spelling-book, the arithmetic, the pen, and the bible, are the four corner stones on which must rest the enlightenment and progress of the descendants of Ham now dwelling in our midst. The supreme object, then, of the race should be to grasp and make use of these grand and essential motive powers of mental, moral, and material advancement. Every step taken in this direction comes of wisdom; those leading a contrary way are born of folly. We were, therefore, naturally prepared to expect to see the intelligent colored men of North Carolina neither neglecting or slighting any means within their reach of attaining the prime objective point above indicated. We thought this Convention would recognize the undeniable fact that the State Legislature, the State Executive and the State Press had made and are continuing to make most laudable and effective efforts for providing more ample means for the education of the colored people of the State; and that they would show a disposition to cordially co-operate in the educational movement inaugurated by the Legislature of 1876–'77, and carried on so earnestly and successfully by the present State administration. But we were disappointed in this. A resolution to the effect "that the colored people appreciated the efforts of the State Press and the action of the State Legislature and State Executive in providing more ample and efficient means for the education of the colored people of the State," was warmly discussed and finally defeated. A resolution of somewhat similar import was subsequently introduced and passed, but the fate of the original resolution, and the spirit manifested in the debate, are enough to show that aspiring politicians controlled the Convention.

We are sorry to see this. We wish to see the colored race prosper; every good citizen must entertain the same wish. But prosperity cannot be looked for by them so long as they blindly follow the lead of office seekers who must depend solely on the black vote for promotion. Whatever tends to antagonize the two races is necessarily hurtful. Peace and harmony must prevail between them. The massing of the blacks against the whites will not imperil in the least the supremacy of the party now in power; but it will inevitably recoil with disastrous effect upon the black race. The latter can never regain control in North Carolina. It is madness, therefore, for men to pursue any line of policy which squints in that direction. We shall indulge in the hope that the action of this convention does not express the sentiments of the colored masses of this State, upon whom we are loth to believe partisan politics has so deep a hold as the proceedings above referred to seem to indicate.

AMONG the experiments of the present age is co-education of the sexes. It is being tried in the University of Wisconsin. According to the report of the board of visitors, the girls show greater intellectual proficiency, but there are accompanying signs of general ill-health.

IF the colored people of North Carolina want to get along well, they must quit politics. The less they shall have in future to do with politics and politicians the better for them in a mental, moral and material point of view.

THE Weldon Fair opens to-day. We will present full reports from day to day.

ORANGE court this week.

"They All Do It!"

(N. Y. Republic.)

There are few books that can boast of four or five hundred pages as is contained in this little phrase, which has been placarded on the bill-boards, and called into the ears of the public for the last two or three weeks. It is the one sentence which takes the courage completely out of youth, searing its conscience as with a red-hot iron, and permitting despair to carry it off bodily into the depths of crime.

"Oh, they all do it: why should not you?" that is the suggestion. "That man there lies and cheats, and will commit any crime which the law does not make dangerous. So it is with all of them. There is no use in your trying to be different from other people." That is the way the temptation comes to the young man thrown on the world with little knowledge of its ways, and perhaps shielded only by the loose training of an over-fond mother. "People are grossly immoral. Even temperance advocates get drunk in private; church deacons swindle savings banks; all you see of morality is but a surface show. Beneath, there is concealed wickedness. You will find you must follow the multitude," and the youth with the pleasure of the world held up before his glowing imagination, and full of bodily health, plunges forthwith into what he believes to be "the world."

If the devil had concentrated all his cunning during the centuries which have elapsed since his ejection from Paradise, he could not have produced a more powerful argument with which to conquer the soul of man than this, "They all do it."

But young man, listen. That sentence is a lie. As base and foul a lie as ever was conceived in the mind of man or devil. They don't "all do it." There are thousands upon thousands of good, pure women in this world, bad as it may seem, who are leading upright lives. They believe in a Deity, and in the commands of virtue, and are going along with the happiest results to themselves and their neighbors. There are men who think that they are not put into this world to gratify their own base appetites, but to be true and noble and highminded MEN. There are men who would disdain to tell a lie. There are men who would disdain to be accessory to a woman's fall. There are men who would disdain to take an advantage in trade, or to do any other selfish or mean action. There are men, who try to be just, always, and kindly both in words and feelings to all. There are men who lead humble, unpretentious lives, and who, without making it known to the world, are daily doing a vast amount of good among their fellowmen.

And strange to say, these men lead very happy lives and as a rule very successful lives. While the unprincipled man may enjoy temporary success, sooner or later he will suffer for his lack of honesty. There are a thousand ways in which Virtue revenges herself upon him. But in one way or another he gets his deserts. You have youth, blessed with health of mind and body. There are plenty of criminals around you, it is true. But they are to be pitied, not imitated. Never believe that what some do, all do, and make in your own person a standing example of the falsity "They all do it."

Having been appointed Commissioner for the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Texas, and Arkansas, I am prepared to take depositions, oaths and affidavits, acknowledgments and privy examinations, or to make certificate of any act in this State necessary to be proven in either of the above States under authority issued to me by the Governors of said States.

NEWS NOTES.

The Grand Army of the Republic has celebrated its eleventh anniversary.

Speaker Randall gives an example of economy in living. His house in Washington is a neat, but small and plain one.

The chalice and platina which are to be presented to Bishop Gibbons by the Diocese of Richmond are beautifully worked in gold and silver, and cost altogether over $400.

An intimate friend of Mr. Chandler asserts in the most positive and confident way that "Zach will succeed old Christiancy in the Senate as sure as there is a God in Israel."

Calcraft, the retired English executioner, following the illustrious example of his French fellow-craftsman, Samson, is engaged upon an "Autobiography of Hanging," that promises to be of thrilling interest.

Lord George Hamilton, the Under-Secretary for India, has made a speech in which he admitted that the cost of the famine to the Imperial Government would be $55,000,000, or double the original estimates.

The Southern Democrats who thoughtlessly condescended to dicker with Hayes, Matthews and Garfield about the Speakership are probably heartily ashamed of themselves to-day. Nothing fails like failure.—Baltimore Gazette.

A bridge across the Bosphorus is to be Captain James B. Ead's next attempt. It will cost $25,000,000, and be of iron and masonry, 100 feet wide and 6,000 long, with fifteen spans, the central one of 750 feet.

Philadelphia Times: James P. Cowardin, who died at Richmond last Tuesday, was the best dialect reporter in the United States. He first reduced the Southern negro's lingo to type, and was the founder of a new school of humor in the South.

Enterprise is the life of trade, but certainly an English undertaker has just carried it a little too far. He exhibited in the window of his store, duly placarded, the lid of the coffin in which Mlle. Titiens was to be buried.

The Rev. Dr. John Poisel, the new chaplain of the House of Representatives, was once a shoemaker in Martinsburg, West Virginia, and studied theology while working on his bench. He has passed his fiftieth year in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

It is a mournful fact that the only man defeated on the Republican ticket in Cleveland, Ohio, was the colored nominee. Cleveland is the headquarters of the fanatical Western Reserve, which is always concerned about the colored man that he shall have his rights in the South.

After three hundred years of absence, shoals of herring appeared this year on the coast of Denmark. The fish was for many centuries the chief source of revenue of the country, and the Danes naturally hope that it may not soon again disappear, as it did suddenly one Autumn over 300 years ago.

In the Superior Court of New York, Wednesday, a verdict of $10,000 was rendered in favor of Phoebe Robertson against the New York Herald. The action was one for libel contained in a personal advertisement. The court held if a newspaper maintained such a column as the Herald's "personals," it was its duty to see that nothing injurious to any one was inserted in it, and that the proprietor took all the risk of carelessness, malice, or negligence of hi employees.

General John M. Harlan. newly appointed Supreme Court Justice, is said to be not so heavy a man as Judge Davis, but he will be by far the largest man on the bench. "If he were a lady, he would be called a magnificent blonde," says Mr Halstead; for the new judge is tall and ruddy, and of majestic figure.

A Case of Elephantiasis.

The New Haven Palladium on Monday says: "On November 4. 1867, James Featherstone, a harness-maker, of No. 24 Washington street, was compelled to take to his bed by a crick in his back, and he has never risen from it. In June, 1869, the terrible disease of elephantiasis arabum developed itself in the hardening of the soles of his feet. It rapidly spread upward, and his legs swelled and became like petrifactions. It is believed that the legs at she calves will measure 35 inches in circumference and weigh 80 pounds each. A rope and pulley had to be used to elevate the sufferer so that his bed could be changed. He died Saturday morning, at the age of 71 years. There have been cases of elephantiasis arabum in this country, but none so serious as this. Generally the disease has settled in one leg only. This peculiar affliction is known in the West India Islands, in Brazil, and other South American countries, also Japan and Egypt. Physicians from various sections of the country have visited Mr. Featherstone to witness the peculiar characteristics of the disease.

Presidency of Randolph Macon College.

[Charlotte Observer.]

Rev. Wallace W. Duncan, professor in Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., was in the city yesterday. Upon the death of his distinguished and lamented brother, Rev. Dr. Jas. A. Duncan, president of Randolph Macon College, Va., about a month ago, the board of trustees offered the presidency to this gentleman. Mr. Duncan, after mature deliberation, decided to decline, and his letter of declination was written, we understand, from this city yesterday.

Practically out of the World.

(Duluth Minnesotian)

Some half-dozen Scotchmen passed through here this week on their way from McKenzie's river, which is 1,300 miles to the northwest from Duleth, and which runs into the Arctic ocean. They went to that barren country some ten years ago, from the islands of the north of Scotland. by ship, direct to Hudson's Bay, and until they got to Fisher's Landing, on the St. Paul and Pacific railroad, on their return, they had never seen a railroad. They knew nothing about the Franco-Prussian war, in fact, they had been practically ut of the world.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINE AND SAFETY BOILER WAS AWARDED THE
This Premium at Roanoke & Tar River Agricultural Society, 1875. The Gold Medal, over all other Competitors, at the North Carolina State Fair, in 1876.
It is the most perfect and economical in use. The Boiler is of new design, being vertical, yet all the heating surface is entirely covered with water, thus preventing the fire from destroying the tubes as is the case, in a few years, in all upright tubular boilers in which the fire passes through the tubes above the water line, soon destroying the exposed end of the tubes causing them to leak.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

——Abstract of taxes for the county of Chowan was received at the Audiior's office yesterday.

——Any person having lost a chair at the State Fair can hear of it by applying at the NEWS office.

——There will be a special meeting of Raleigh Chapter, No. 10, R. A. M., this (Tuesday,) evening at their Hall, for work on the P. M. degree.

——Gov. Vance yesterday issued a commission to R. H. Dillard, Esq., as Director in the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal company, in place of E. C. Yellowly Esq., who declined to serve.

——The Treasurer yesterday issued the following Drummers' licenses: Wm. A. Tottle & Co., of Baltimore, and to C. S. Parsons & Sons, Whitfield, Powers & Co., M. Cosgrove, and James Ginley of New York.

——A drove of horses and mules arrived in the city yesterday from Western North Carolina, among them a perfect mammoth of a horse, being over nineteen hands high and with body proportionate.

——Gen. Bradley T. Johnston, in charge of the military at the Richmond, Va., Fair, the review of which comes off on Thursday, November 1st., has so far modified the rule in regard to competition for the prize medal for the best drilled company as to allow companies outside of the State to compete.

The Bingham Cadets.

One of the most notable features of the recent Fair was the military display, and among the various companies on the ground none seemed to elicit so much admiration as the cadets of the Bingham School, under the command of Col. Robert Bingham. Encomiums of the highest order were bestowed upon them, some of them from gentlemen whose praise is worth much. The following are some of the opinions we heard uttered in regard to them and their splendid movements on the parade ground, by some of our most distinguished men:

Gen. Clingman said, in substance: "I have seen soldiers of the regular armies of England, France and Prussia drill, as well as those of the United States army, and I candidly say I never saw better drilling, and never any skirmishing in any country equal to that of the Bingham cadets."

Gen. Roberts said: "I have seen the West Point cadets drill, and the Bingham boys do equally as well on the field movements, and I have never seen them equalled anywhere in the skirmish."

Three United States officers and recent graduates at West Point, who were present and saw the drilling, addressed a note to Col. Bingham highly commending the appearance and superior training of the cadets, as exhibited on the Fair Grounds, and Gen. Hoke, Maj. Engelhard, Col. Saunders, Col. Kenan and other distinguished adepts in military matters, we are informed, authorize the statement that they concur in the opinion expressed in the note.

Gov. Hampton who paid very close attention to the drill, remarked publicly that he had never seen anything of the kind to equal the Cadet drill.

The gentlemanly and moral bearing of these young gentlemen while in Raleigh were subjects of general remark, and it is stated that during their stay here not one of them was seen to take a drop of ardent spirits, showing the influence of the discipline of this excellent institution. Such high praise, while it is eminently due the principal and pupils of this institution cannot but be gratifying to those who have sons attending it.

Night Schools.

Some time ago we suggested the subject of night schools in Raleigh for the benefit of those who can not attend the regular day schools. This suggestion was made at the instance of a gentleman who is willing to engage in the work, and his ability and experience in teaching are such as to insure the success of the scheme with proper co-operation. As yet there has been no response to the proposition—is not the benevolent element in Raleigh equal to the task of organizing and keeping up such an institution?

A Graceful Tribute.

When the Edgecombe Guards (Co. F. 1st. Battalion N. C. S. G.) Capt. J. W. Cotten commanding, left our city on Friday last, on their return home, the company, on reaching the office of Maj. J. C. Winder, wheeled into line, halted, and gave three cheers for that public spirited gentleman. Capt. Cotten also, in a very pleasant little speech, alluded to the many kindnesses shown the State Guard by Maj. Winder as superintendent of the Raleigh & Gaston and Raleigh & Augusta Railways. Maj. Winder, in reply, expressed his thanks for the very complimentary remarks.

All About a Breastpin.

A case was up before Justice C. D. Upchurch yesterday about a breastpin that was left with W. W. Woodell by Isham Meadows, to be mended, but which Meadows afterward found in the possession of a negro woman who, it seems, had it from a negro man named Caton Robinson. Robinson was arrested and in the trial it turned out that Woodell had sold it to him when drunk. This was considered only a breach of trust. After the trial, Meadows went for Woodell and "bunged his eye and spoilt his sight," for which he will be before the Mayor this morning.

Mayor's Court.

W. Boyd and R. W. Bryant got to shuffle. the former was fined $1. and the latter $5.

Bert Wilcox for an assault on Rufus Byrd with a deadly weapon, sent on to the criminal Court.

M. Ellington, drunk and down on Sunday, $1 and costs.

We resume and conclude to-day our notes of the Fair for 1877, except as to any omission unintentionally made, which will be remedied when discovered.

FOWLS.

The exhibition in this department was not very full, but there were several very superior exhibits in some of them. We did not ascertain the names of any of the exhibitors, as our visit to the coops was at an hour when everybody was busy in some other part of the grounds.

There were three coops of white turkeys, very pretty; several pairs and trios of China, African and Bremen geese, and some natives that we have never seen excelled; Ducks, Rouen, Muscovy, duck and mallard of our native breeds, all very fine; Game chickens, Brahmas, black Spanish, bantams, and a coop of very large yellow species, the name of which we did not learn, made a creditable showing in this line. One coop of Leghorn and Plymouth Rock were hard to beat.

STOCK.

As to the horses we must refer to the awarding committees and our daily reports of the races for an account of those of merit on exhibition. The exhibition of family harness horses was pretty fair; of heavy draft horses, rather a deficiency. Of fine running and fancy horses perhaps the exhibition was good enough for an agricultural fair, though better might have been looked for on a regular race course.

Of sheep the exhibition was good, though not full; Cotswolds, Southdowns, grades and natives, some of them splendid animals, graced the pens, but we need not look for much of a showing in this class while the State is cursed with as many sheep-killing curs as it is.

There was the best showing of hogs we have ever seen at any fair in the State. Mr. A. R. Venable, of Prince Edward, Va., contributed largely to the hog show; Berkshires, Esssex, Chester, and some fine crosses constituted the lot. Mr. James Norwood, of Orange, also had a fine exhibit; his Berkshire pigs "looked too sweet to live a minute." There were several pens of hogs whose owners we could not find out, the cards having been torn away.

The show of cattle was limited, though there were some very fine animals among them. There were Alderneys or Jerseys, Durham, Brahmins, Devons, cross breeds and natives, some of them very superior.

Our last interview of the stock part of the show was that of the four quadrupedal animated music boxes, noted for the length of their auricular appendages, but our people are not much on the raise in this line while Kentucky mules are so cheap.

The McBride Hay and cotton press attracted considerable attention of cotton farmers; as it claims superiority over all others in use. It is manufactured at Laurinburg, Richmond county.

The portable engines for plantation use, from Richmond Va., exhibited by Talbot & Son and by Tanner & Co., we have already noticed.

A very excellent cotton gin, manufactured by Farrar & Crutchfield, at Carey, N. C., took first premium.

The Godwin portable engine from Norfolk, Va., is said to add to other advantages, perfect safety from sparks, and therefore better adapted to running cotton gins than any other engine.

There were on exhibition a number of large steel composition bells from the Blymyer Manufacturing Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, one of which was donated to the Society by the company.

A. M. McPheeters, Esq., had on exhibition samples of cotton seed oil, cotton seed meal and oil cake, from his mills in this county. This is becoming quite an interest, much of the oil, cake and meal being shipped North, and even to Europe.

Mr. Thomas Bridgers, of Wake, exhibited five bales of cotton, which took the premium of a ton of guano and a pair of Berkshire pigs. There were four other bales of very nice cotton on exhibition, but we did not learn the name of the exhibitors. For a cotton growing region the exhibition of cotton was scant.

Our neighbor, James M. Towles, of "Farmers' Headquarters," had on exhibition a collection of agricultural implements consisting of sulky plows, hay rakes, cutters, fan mills, shellers, great variety of plows and a section of the "steel-barb" patent fence. This last is a good thing.

Messrs. Farmer & Wainwright, of Wilson, N. C., had, also, on exhibition a large lot of agricultural implements of their own manufacture.

There was on exhibition at the Fair a stalk of common cotton, from the Insane Asylum, that was planted five years ago and has continued growing and bearing continually every year since. It has been kept in the green-house and has been cut back annually. It has on it now upward of thirty open boils, and also blooms and forms.

A very pretty contribution to the Fair, and one that attracted much admiration, was a case of fancy worsted and cardboard work, &c., by Miss Julia Creech, aged eleven years. It was recommended for a special premium.

Miss Haseline Norwood, of Hillsboro, an invalid who did most of the work while lying in bed, contributed a collection of fancy work—shawl, handkerchief, mats, shirt and other articles. She is only fifteen years old and has been an invalid three years. She was awarded a premium on her shawl.

All who entered the central building, second floor, of the General Exhibition Hall, were bound to notice the neat arrangement of the department; the graceful festooning of the flags; the tasteful draping of the windows, and the general arrangement and harmony of the entire room. We think it due to the ladies who superintended this particular department to give their names. They are: Miss Priscilla McKee, Miss Blanch Fentress, Miss Sophia Partridge, Miss Sallie Haywood, Miss Sue Pescud, Miss Grizzie Bagley, aided and assisted by Mrs. Julius Lewis, Mrs. John G. Williams, Mrs. Jesse J. Yeats, Miss Ella Jester and, Mrs. E. M. Nadal.

The Salem Silver Cornet Band.

During the Fair last week, the Salem Cornet Band which, by the way, is one of the best in North Carolina, discoursed sweet music each day having been employed for the occasion by the Executive Committee. Mr. S. T. Mickey is the captain and there are fourteen members.

On Tuesday the first day of the Fair, by invitation of Dr. Eugene Grissom, the band visited the Asylum for the Insane, and performed several beautiful airs for the unfortunate inmates, which was greatly appreciated. We trust this band will be called upon again to visit our State Fairs in future.

The Spiritual Exposition.

Prof. Cooke, the distinguished sleight-of-hand performer, and spiritual exposer, exhibited to a wondering audience at Tucker Hall last evening, his unequaled powers as a magician. Upon the stage, in full view of the audience, was placed a wooden cabinet with doors cloth covered, and a committee of six gentlemen of our city were rexuested to come upon the stage and examine everything. The following gentlemen composed the committee: Messrs. J. C. Blake, J. C. S. Lumsden, E. Conklin, C. Weikel, Rev. Dr. Pritchard, and Hon. T. S. Kenan.

Slips of paper were distributed among the audience, who were requested to write any questions upon them, and to keep the same until called for, at a later stage of the performance.

After a few feats of legerdemain, the Professor seated himself in a chair and permitted himself to be securely fastened thereto; his arms were run through two holes in a board and then tied tightly at the wrists.

He then seated himself in the cabinet and Miss Cooke closed the doors. In two or three seconds the doors were opened and the Professor appeared still bound, but in his shirt sleeves. While the cabinet was closed, bells rang and hands appeared at an opening in front and at the top He returned into the cabinet, and in a few moments stepped out unbound.

The cabinet tie test next succeeded. Cords were placed in the cabinet, the Professor entered, and in two or three minutes hands appeared at the opening. An instant after the doors were opened and disclosed him securely bound. He was lifted out of the cabinet and tied again, four gentlemen pulling tightly the cord around his wrists. As soon as he was replaced in the cabinet a hand appeared, which Dr. Pritchard attempted to grasp, but whenever he reached for it, it "wasn't there." The Professor now invited a gentleman to step into the cabinet and turn his back to him. Our beaming friend, Weikel, took the position, and as soon as the doors were closed bells were rung all around him and he was slapped on the back.

The "Hindas Test" closed the evenings exhibition. A sack was placed over the head of a performer, he was put in the cabinet and tied up. In a moment after the doors closed, hands appeared, the bag was thrown out, and he stepped out.

He was then securely handcuffed, the cuffs obeing furnished by our Chief of Police, but after a few minutes stay in the cabinet he stepped out free.

There was an intermission of some minutes, at the end of which the curtain rose, revealing Miss Cooke reclining on a lounge. To all appearances the lady seemed to be in a trance. The professor asked her what she saw, when she made answers which agreed with the questions asked on the slips held by persons in the audience. All the answers were acknowledged by the questioning parties, except the lady who manifested such an interest in "Major Wilson."

The Professor announced that he would to-night expose all these seeming miracles, and we urge our people not to fail to attend, and bespeak a crowded house.

The audience last night was the worst puzzled one ever seen in our city, but they will learn to-night how the wisest may be "taken in."

Colored Teachers' Convention

The County Educational Institute, composed of the teachers of colored schools, convened in the Washington Graded School room on Saturday, at 10 o'clock, and had two very interesting sessions.

A constitution for the government of the schools was adopted, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, W. R. Harris, Vice President, Kittie M. Bishop; Corresponding Secretary, B. C. Goins; Recording Secretary, Jane E. Thomas; Treasurer, Kittie Ligon; Marshal, B. J. Edwards.

A resolution expressive of thanks to Col. A. W. Shaffer, and T. R. Purnell, Esq., for their efforts towards securing a system of graded schools for Raleigh township, was introduced by W. R. Harris, and unanimously adopted.

The subject of the three grades of teacher's certificates was considered, all the speakers taking the ground that while it would be impolitic in the interest of education to abolish either the second or third grade at this juncture, the standard of scholarship required for successful examination in the three grades should be gradually raised.

In the afternoon Capt. John E. Dugger, Principal of the Graded School, visited the Institute, and entertained the teachers with a lecture on the art of teaching. Capt. Dugger treated his subject very elaborately, and after his usually plain, logical and practical style. We, whose good fortune it was to be present, was greatly benefitted by his remarks.

Misses E. P. Hayes, Anna M. Day, Louise S. Dorr, and Flora W. Richards, teachers in the colored graded school, were enrolled as members of the Institute, and will labor for the successful attainment of the important objects for which it was organized.

The Institute meets again the first Saturday in December. Some of our most successful educators will be present on that occasion to give the Institute the benefit of their skill and experience, and doubtless a profitable time will be had. H.

Heavy Storm.

A correspondent in Barton's Creek township writes: "On Sunday evening last quite a storm passed over, about thirteen miles above Raleigh, doing considerable damage to fences, trees, &c., the creeks were quite swollen on account of it, the storm consisting of rain, hail, and wind. This accounts for the change in the weather."

DIED.

HAWKINS—At his residence Sunday evening, at 3 o'clock. Oct. 14, of typhoid fever, our much esteemed friend, Mr. Wyatt Hawkins, in his 79th year He leaves an aged wife, two children and many friends and relatives to mourn his loss.

"Oh yes, how sweet on Jesus' breast
To breath the last of life,
To say when nearer Jordan's waves,
Fond nature, cease thy strife."

Titans and Men.

"Blessed are the meek," exclaims the voice of Inspiration, but can a man be meek with the consciousness that a dreaded monster is consuming his vitals. We are not a race of Titans. A Prometheus might stand chained to the torturing rock with a vulture perpetually gnawing his livrr, and his face ever wear an expression of heroic and even meek endurance. But Prometheus has left no descendats. With vultures (disease) consuming his liver, the modern man makes himself and every one around him miserable. Fretful, gloomy, hypochondriacal, he sees the world and life all on the wrong side—the dark side—and whoever dares to assert that there is a sunny side, he regards as an enemy, or at best a mocker of his imaginary woes. Unlike the mythical Titan, the victim of disease is not succorless. There is an arm to rescue—a balm to cleanse and heal. As remedies for this most depressing of all diseases—"Liver Complaint,"—none are more efficient or popular than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets. The Pellets effectually remove the effete and poisonous matter, while the Medical Discovery imparts strength and health to the entire system. They are sold by druggists.

DRUGS.

An Open Letter to the Public.

NEW YORK, October 1, 1877.

I have devoted twenty years of patient study to the Liver and its relations to the human body, in search of a remedy which would restore it, when diseased, to its normal condition. The result of that labor has been the production of

TUTT'S LIVER PILLS.

Their popularity has become so extended and the demand so great as to induce unscrupulous parties to counterfeit them, thereby robbing me of the reward, and the afflicted of their virtues.

To Caution the Public and protect them from vile impositions, I have adopted a new label, which bears my trade-mark and notice of its entry in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, also my signature, thus;

Dr. H. Tutt M. D.

☞ TO COUNTERFEIT THIS IS FORGERY. ☜

Before purchasing, examine the label closely.

THE GENUINE TUTT'S PILLS

exert a peculiar influence on the system. Their action is prompt, and their good effects are felt in a few hours A quarter of a century of the study of the Liver has demonstrated that it exerts a greater influence over the system than any other organ of the body, and when diseased the entire organism is deranged. It is specially for the healing of this vital organ that I have spent so many years of toil, and having found the remedy, which has proved the greatest boon ever furnished the afflicted. Shall they be deprived of its benefits, and a vile imitation imposed upon them?

Let the honest people of America see to it that they are not defrauded. Scrutinize the label closely, see that it bears all the marks above mentioned, and buy the medicine only from respectable dealers. It can be found everywhere. Very respectfully,

W. H. TUTT,

Tucker Hall
